Types of Valuations:

Retail Replacement for Insurance Purposes:

This valuation provides a fair retail replacement for items for the purpose of acquiring insurance. The value in this case, is a full retail price and is based on the item being replaced in the current market.

Fair Market or Family Distribution Valuation:

This valuation provides for the distribution of items that are part of an estate or family assets. The value in this case is the amount which would be realised if the pieces were sold by a willing seller to a willing buyer without a time constraint.

Probate Valuation

This valuation provides for the instant realisation of items. The value in this case is the price that might be achieved under a forced sale situation. Probate value is approximately 20% of full retail replacement value.

Private Sale:

This valuation provides for the private sale of items between willing parties. The value in this case is approximately 50% of full retail replacement value.
